McLean to Operate Home Health Care

11 July 1985

Intermountain Health Care does not only provide care in hospitals and clinics, but also provides care at the patient's home and convenience if medical needs are such where patient doesn't require hospitalization.

Wasatch County Hospital (WCH) has hired Lynne E. McLean, a registered nurse, to operate the Home Health Care (HHC) program for Wasatch, Summit and Duchesne counties.

Mrs. McLean was born in Tacoma, Washington and her father was in the U.S. Airforce and as a result of his assignments, she has lived in many portions of the world. She graduated from high school in Bangkok, Thailand and she received her nurses degree from Brigham Young University. She has worked at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake and is the mother of one daughter and two sons. Presently, she and her husband are building a home in Daniels.

HHC is health care brought to the home for patients of all ages requiring services due to acute illness, chronic illness, disability or terminal illness in order to achieve or sustain the optimum state of health. Patients who use home health care are put to case because they are in the comfort of their own homes. They also feel an independence which they can't feel at the hospital. They can eat, use the telephone, entertain visitors as they please. Patients also benefit financially because costly inpatient stays are shorter.

Services include nursing services, respiratory therapy and physical therapy. Homebound patients, patients requiring skilled treatment or rehabilitative treatment are qualified to have home health care upon their physicians' orders for home health care.

"I really think home health care is the way future medicals will go," Mrs. McLean said. "And my goal is to provide quality home health for people who choose to stay home."

Many insurance companies, such as Medicare, Medicaid, and other private insurances will cover home health expenses. Any information concerning the home health program can be obtained by calling HHC at Wasatch County Hospital.

"Home health is a wonderful service to help families take care of their loved ones," Mrs. McLean said.

Home Health Coordinator Appointed

Wave 12-12-85

Due to the increasing demands in home health care, Wasatch County Hospital has hired a nurse coordinator into the Home Health department. Kim Van Wagoner, R.N., a Heber City native, will join Lynne McLean, R.N. in the hospital's home health care in Wasatch, Summit and Duchesne counties.

VanWagoner was born and raised in Midway and graduated from Wasatch High School. He attended Ricks College in Idaho for one year before being called on an LDS mission to Pennsylvania.

After his mission, VanWagoner spent three years in the military. While in the service, he began his medical training in physical therapy.

After completing his military service, he returned to Ricks College and received an associate degree in nursing. He continued his education at Slippery Rock University, Pennsylvania, receiving his bachelor's degree in nursing.

VanWagoner soon realized he missed the west and decided to return home.

Kim's previous experience includes serving as coordinator of home health for outlying counties in Salt Lake prior to his new assignment at Wasatch County Hospital.

As part of this new assignment, VanWagoner will be conducting educational classes in the community in home health covering such topics as caring of elderly people, rehabilitation and the care of the handicapped.

VanWagoner said these programs are not geared just for the elderly, but cover the whole lifespan of age.

Home health care is designed to give patients with a non-life threatening illness, a chance to stay in the privacy of their home and receive medical attention. The nurses in home health will also be able to make available some equipment from the hospital to assist the patient while at home. It is like the good old days where the clinics traveled to the patient's home and not the other way around.

VanWagoner is very anxious to help his neighbors and friends he grew up with. He enjoys this area and plans to stay here for a good long time.

For more information concerning home health care, call Kim VanWagoner, R.N. at the Wasatch County Hospital 654-2500 ext. 229.

zine did a nice story on the race, and we got a lot of ink in the Salt Lake Valley," says Turner. "We get calls on a regular basis from around the country. People want to know the format, rules, and any events we have planned for the future."

Turner went on to say that a Western U.S. Series of Bike 'N Tie events is on the drawing board. Proposals for events in Honolulu, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Anchorage, Denver, Phoenix, and Salt Lake City are being considered. If sponsors and support for the series are confirmed, the eight series events will be held during the summer and the Park City race on September 13th will be a National Championship.
